

TOPNOTCH give colours to agencyfaqs new avataar!

Priyal Sokhiya of Topnotch Advertising, Jaipur adjudged the first prize winner by agencyfaqs (world's no.2 advertising website) on coloring its new logo.

“Topnotch Advertising” has won another national level competition last week. The world's second largest advertising, media and marketing website, agencyfaqs! (now afaqs!), organised a contest where it had invited its readers to paint the colours of its new logo. Earlier, the site was known as agencyfaqs!

This national level competition received over 2500 entries. Participants belonged to virtually every major ad agency and media company. The winner of the contest was Priyal Sokhiya of Topnotch Advertising, Jaipur, whose choice of colours was closest to the final colours of the new logo. You can view the logo options here <http://www.afaqs.com/main1.html>

The recognition is a testimony to our committed excellence in marketing/ media communication and design. As always, Topnotch advertising is pleased to share this joyous moment with you - our patrons, whose faith in our capabilities motivate us to achieve greater heights.
